

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT Darbyville, the little village in Muhlenberg township, provided headlines for the Circleville newspapers in August, 1871, as a result of an exciting week-end. The story is vividly told in The Herald of the time. It follows:

"The news from Darbyville is of rather an exciting character. On Saturday, a small detachment of fellows on a 'spree,' numbering perhaps four or five, attacked and 'cleaned out' Evans' grocery, breaking glasses, bottles and other furniture. An opposing party then collected a force and retook the position after a slight skirmish, in which a few heads were cracked. The assailants were arrested and placed in jail over the night. They were fined and dismissed the next morning."

That collecting money is not always an easy task, and often embarrassing, but a certain Circleville lady of 60 years ago informed her debtors in terse words when she was in need of cash. Mrs. E. Nightengale, the lady in question, inserted the following advertisement in The Herald of July 7, 1871:

"As I expect to go East the first of September, I must have money. All persons indebted will please call and settle before that date."

That William Doty, a mechanical worker here in August, 1871, invented a flue cleaner for steam boilers which was later proclaimed as a great improvement to the machine. It was widely used for many years. The chief feature of Mr. Doty's invention was that by means of a ball or shell attached to the lower end of a supply pipe connected with the boiler, the condensed water was conducted to the ash pit, allowing the flue to remain perfectly dry.

THAT the "Flying Dutchman," a contrivance similar to our merry-go-round of today, was the principal form of amusement for children at the carnivals and fairs of 60 years ago. In July, 1871, Allen O. Meyers, this city, erected a "Flying Dutchman" at the corner of Main and Scioto-sts., which collapsed as it was whirling five or six children through the air. Miraculously, no one was hurt with the exception of Meyers' youngest son, who according to newspapers of the time, suffered a smashed toe.

The machine was revolving through the air when one of the gey-roops gave away, causing the whole contrivance to fall to the ground. A crowd of persons ran to the scene, fully expecting to find several of the children dead, newspapers reported, but to their surprise, no one besides young Meyers was hurt.

That the following item appeared in the editorial columns of The Herald in November, 1870:

"We are informed that a newly-married couple took a wedding trip to the county infirmary last Wednesday evening. Taking a view of their future home, perhaps."

That with the return of legal liquor, many persons find it a difficult task to determine whether or not to take the second drink. Here's how a man in Circleville, 1871, decided the grave issue. He threw dice with himself to decide whether or not to indulge but the disadvantage to his system, according to newspaper comment of the time, was that if he didn't win the first time he threw again... for a drink he would have.

Over the week-end other naval vessels were to leave San Diego harbor for positions 300 miles apart on the path of the flight.

STAGE MILK STRIKE

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Picketing dairy farmers resorted to violence today to prevent deliveries in the Chicago milkshed as the strike voted by 18,000 farmer members of the Pure Milk association went into effect. Strikers hastily dumped three truck loads of milk on the highways.

Sheriff's deputies and state police were summoned to patrol principal roads in the surrounding area, particularly in Lake and McHenry counties and in southern Wisconsin. Authorities said the situation was tense after a hasty survey disclosed that farmers had taken up picketing operations at vantage points.

LIQUOR SITE SOUGHT HERE

Hughes Asks Bids To Be Opened Jan. 22; Operators To Be on Civil Service.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 6.—Col. John A. Hughes, Ohio liquor control director, announced here today the first permits authorizing the sale of intoxicating liquor by the glass in the state will be issued January 19.

On that date, Col. Hughes said, the first applications for permission to sell liquor by the glass filed Jan. 3 will have been conferred with the provision of the state law requiring an "elapse of 15 days" time before the permit can be issued.

Col. John A. Hughes, director of Ohio liquor control, announced Saturday that sealed proposals for lease or rent of premises for use as a retail liquor store in Pickaway-co will be opened at the office of the Liquor Control commission, Harman building, Columbus, at noon on January 22.

Since Pickaway-co will have only one store for the sale of retail package liquor, it will be in this city. The county seat is to be the location in all counties of less than 40,000 residents.

PLAN EXAMINATION

COLUMBUS, Jan. 5.—With more than 2,000 applications on hand, Col. John A. Hughes, state director of liquor control, today had announced that the personnel of Ohio's 187 liquor stores to be established for the retail sale of package liquor will be under civil service.

Decision to place the jobs in the classified service followed a conference here yesterday between Governor George White and Col. Hughes. The possibility had been considered that the jobs might fall without the civil service class because of a recent ruling by the state supreme court to the state tax commission, which held that persons handling state funds were not subject to the requirement.

The ruling of Col. Hughes yesterday will place virtually all jobs in the state liquor control department under the civil service classification. It has been estimated that the department personnel will comprise about 1,000 persons.

$2-Per-Gallon Gains Support As Liquor Tax

Senate Plans Speedy Action; House Approves Plan By Large Margin.

PLAN USE OF STAMPS

Delay In Action Costs $750,000 For Each Day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Senate leaders today planned to expedite action on the liquor tax bill which was approved overwhelmingly by the House yesterday.

Acceptance of the increase from $1.10 to $2.00 a gallon in the tax on whiskey and other liquors was forecast by the Senate finance committee prepared to act on the measure, and try to have the Senate vote on it next week. Each day's delay is costing the government $750,000 in taxes.

The fight in the House for both a higher and a lower tax on whiskey was expected to be renewed, with Senator Borah (R) of Idaho slated to lead a movement to raise the tax to $4.00 or $5.00 a gallon.

"PROTECT CONSUMER"

Wide-spread complaints of the poor quality of liquor may also result in demands for provisions to protect the consumer.

Under an amendment placed in the bill by the House at the request of the treasury, stamps showing the payment of tax must be placed upon all containers. This requirement would be an additional protection to the public against the purchase of bootleg liquor.

A tax yield of $470,000,000 a year is expected under the bill. This includes the beer tax which now is yielding about $160,000,000.

A concession to beer and wine drinkers was made when the House extended the $5 a barrel tax on 3.2 per cent beer to cover all beers. The present tax on beers of greater alcoholic strength is $6.00 a barrel.

The wine taxes, ranging from four cents a gallon on naturally fermented or table wine to 25 cents on wine containing as much as 25 per cent of alcohol, are designed to encourage wine drinking.

ORGANIZE FORCES

House leaders, who have decided to pass another liquor bill consolidating all liquor legislation now on the statute books, may seek to perpetuate the control of the liquor traffic now vested in the Federal Alcohol Control administration.

The mayor said that a statement containing the charges and the testimony to support them would be issued Monday along with the suspension order. Under the city charter, Chief Kundts is entitled to a public hearing before the city civil service commission within five days.

DUNTON RELEASED

Is Questioned After Acting Strangely in Columbus Garage; Freed by Scully.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 6.—James Dunton, 38, Circleville, O., author, who was taken into custody when the night manager of a downtown garage telephoned police the man was acting strangely in the garage office, today had been given his freedom.

Dunton was released after questioning at the hands of T. A. Scully, lieutenant of detectives.

According to the story told police by J. O. Cressman, the garage manager, he feared a robbery attempt when the man he said was Dunton ordered James Miller, negro, in the office at the time, to "stand against the wall."

With this, Cressman made his exit through a rear door and telephoning the police. He admitted, however, that Dunton had not threatened robbery.

Lieut. Scully, who released Dunton, said he believed the latter had been drinking, and was convinced he had no intention of robbing the garage.

Pickaway-Co Shows Slash of Over Three Millions, Tax Commission Reports.

The value of real estate in Pickaway-co for taxation purposes was reduced $3,127,795 during 1933, according to figures announced by the state tax commission Saturday.

The duplicate for 1933 was $27,210,810 while a year ago it was $30,338,605.

The reduction for the entire state amounted to approximately a billion and a quarter as compared to the previous year. The 1933 abstract of the last county, Montgomery, was to be accepted Saturday. The sum of property values in the 88 counties stood at $6,638,136,590. In 1932, the tax duplicate totaled $7,682,452,310, or $1,044,315,720 more than in 1933.

9 COUNTIES HIGHER

All except nine counties contributed in varying degrees to this sharp decline of approximately 13.6 per cent. Counties with 1933 tax duplicates higher than for the previous year were Auglaize, Brown, Clermont, Fayette, Huron, Jefferson, Noble, Shelby and Williams.

The commission statistics also revealed that 60.2 per cent of the state's total real estate value recorded on the 1933 duplicates was concentrated in the eight largest counties.

These counties were Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Franklin, Stark, Summit, Lucas, Mahoning and Montgomery. Their total real estate tax valuation for 1933 was $3,995,104,520, as against $4,716,835,720 for the previous year, a shrinkage of $721,731,200.

5 NEW STEPS FOR RECOVERY BEING FORMED

Changes in NRA to Protect Independent Merchant One of Plans

GUARANTEE BONDS

Portion of Economy Cut May Be Restored

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS).—Five major moves to further recovery were in the formative stage today as President Roosevelt drafted a heavy legislative calendar for congress.

Important presidential decisions are involved in each instance and the president plans to make them within the coming fortnight. Then he will make recommendations to Congress on each move—one at a time.

Two most important steps concerned government financing, changes in the NRA to protect the independent business man, and the setting up of machinery to promote foreign trade.

GUARANTEE BONDS

Financing will concern his first recommendation. Next week he will recommend that Congress authorize the government to guarantee both principal and interest on $4,000,000,000 of bonds now carrying a federal guarantee of interest only. These bonds are those of the Federal Farm Credit administration and of the Home Owners' Loan corporation.

The third of the five important matters pending before the president embraces plans for strengthening the organization to handle international trade. Three reports dealing with this problem, one drafted by George N. Peek, former agricultural administrator (Continued on Page 5B)

The Church Invites You

KNOWING GOD

There is a universal quest to know God. Men through great telescopes have searched for him in the stars and with microscopes have sought Him in the flowers, but they have seen only His footprints. The fact that God is seen in Jesus Christ is generally conceded. It needs to be impressed upon us that Jesus is seen today best in His followers.

There is so little of Christ in any of us that there is need for all of us who have something of Jesus in our lives to join with others so that in the union of Christian experience a better evidence of a living Christ today is seen. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

Discussion on Questions & Lessons

How account for the wise men of the East following the star? When ought we to change our plans and go another way? What was there in the birth of Christ that alarmed Herod?

What did the wise men do when they found Christ, that furnishes us a good example?

What are some of the worst enemies of Christ today?

How are religion and science getting together in recent years?

Clericus says, "The priests knew where Christ was to be born, but they did not know Christ when he was born. We may know much about Christ and yet not know him as our Saviour. It is written 'He that doeth the will of God shall know the doctrine.'"

Prayer is not so much a duty as a privilege.

An egotist is the person who makes the mistake of thinking he does not make mistakes.

Church Forum

What are the principles which the church ought to teach in helping the government in fringing in better times?

The churches of America can assist in bringing in better times by insisting upon several principles which should be fundamental.

First, there must be no future stabilization of living standards without work for all. Second, it should insist upon an order of life collectively planned and manned for the good of all rather than an order individually operated for the selfish profit of the few.

Third, the church should work for the abolition of any system of living which destroyed brotherhood and fellowship through its sanctification of inequality. Fourth, the church can help men to understand what is now happening to them and why it is happening. Fifth, it must forever defend freedom of speech and assembly as the inalienable right of all men as their sole protection against tyranny. Finally, the church ought to proclaim a message of personal salvation and change of heart, without which all dreams of a better and more just world would turn to dust and ashes.

Dr. George V. Werner recently completed 65 years of service as pastor of the Christ Lutheran Church, New York City, announced to his congregation at that time that he had no intention of retiring.

There was recently unveiled in Union Square, New York, a mammoth book, 7 1/2 feet high, 7 1/4 feet wide and 8 1/2 feet thick. It holds a petition bearing one million signatures praying for universal peace to be presented at Geneva. Letters containing petitions for peace are now pouring into the White House.

Three distinguished visitors have come to the United States recently: Dr. Adolf Keller, of Geneva, Switzerland, director of the Central Bureau for the relief of the Evangelical churches of Europe has delivered the famous Storch lectures at Princeton theological seminary. Professor Julius Richter of the University of Berlin has come at the invitation of Dr. John R. Mott to collaborate in the preparation of a new Atlas of world missions. Dr. J. H. Rushbrooke of London, general secretary of the World Baptist Alliance, is giving addresses on the situation in Europe.

With the Bible now in the best-selling class in China, the American Bible Society recently celebrated the 100th anniversary of its work in that country. The past year alone 61,190 copies of the Bible were distributed, making a total of 2,955,706 volumes of the Scripture in China. The Bible was first translated as a whole into Chinese in 1807 by Robert Morrison, an English missionary to that country. It was printed for popular distribution in 1824.

Under the direction of Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, a nation-wide religious movement in Japan, known as the Kingdom of God movement will be continued for the fourth year. Much stress has been put on the social gospel the past year.

FAITH WITHOUT WORKS

The story is told of a notorious lazy man who publicly prayed as follows: "Use me, O Lord, use me in an advisory capacity." The church is full of people who are anxious to be of service if it does not involve work and sacrifice which brings to mind a story of the boy who had trained his dog to work in harness. One morning he had harnessed the dog to the lawn mower. A passer-by noticed that every little while the dog would stop and bark vociferously.

"What's the matter with your dog?" the passerby questioned. "Nothing," replied the boy. "He has just found out he can't draw the mower and bark at the same time and he'd rather bark."

TIGERS LOSE, 25-22; RALLY FALLS SHORT

Take Early Lead But Fall Behind When Marysville Hits Basket With Barrage in Second Period; Half Margin of 17-7 Proves Too Much For Fighting Local Team In C. B. L. Debut.

Marysville brought a tall basketball team to Circleville, Friday evening, but returned home the victor in a 25-22 contest. The Union-co team, which lost to Bellefontaine, 42-14, a week ago, held a lead of 17-7 at the end of the first half, that the Tigers, who have won but one game this year were unable to overcome although they tried desperately in the final half.

The Red and Black looked fairly impressive in the first period grabbing a lead of 6-3 at the end of play but the second session spelled doom. Four of the invaders started nitting the hoop and it was too bad.

The third period found play more even with the Red and Black grabbing the edge in the scoring counting seven points against four, whittling the margin from 10 to seven points.

FOURTH DESPERATE

The fourth quarter found play desperate with both teams failing to take advantage of several opportunities. Jenkins, especially, had tough luck with his shots which hurt the Red and Black cause to no small degree. Time after time what looked like two points rolled off the wrong side of the hoop.

It was up to Otte, Marysville center-forward, who is playing his last year, to upset the Tigers' apple-cart in their first start of the season in the Central Buckeye league. This boy, whose play under the basket was pretty good, scored six action shots, three in each half.

Failure to take advantage of a tip-off Bob Fricke controlled through the entire game caused the Red and Black downfall. Fricke outjumped both Otte and Bailey, who alternated with him, but after the ball would reach a Circleville forward that is as far as it went. In the second half when Gaines Hill was at a guard, the tipoff worked more to the Tiger advantage with a play clicking with Hill going down the side of the court. Had this same play been used in the second period, the story might have been a different one to write.

OFF ON FREE THROWS

The locals missed nine free throws making two and Marysville missed nine in 12 tries. Leasure was the only Tiger to score six points, Jenkins, Fricke, Hill and Porter, who acted as captain, each counting four times.

Russell Facchini, former Ohio Wesleyan cage star, worked a nice game. He called 12 fouls on the Tigers and nine on Marysville. No player was expelled on personal fouls.

ASHVILLE KEEPS UP ITS MIGHTY SPEED

Ashville continued its break-neck pace in county basketball circles, Friday evening, turning back Jackson-twp on the latter court by a 45-19 score.

This Ashville team has become a scourge to its county opponents. Every man on the team is tall; all are able to hit the net, and all are showing the advantage of training Coach Al Kauber has handed them.

The team seems destined to develop into one of the best the county has seen in recent years prior to tournament time.

The Ashville girls defeated Jackson 30-12 in the preliminary.

Stepping into a fast class, New Holland was given a lesson Friday evening with Leesburg the winner. The Leesburg varsity won 30-13 and the reserves by 35-17 scores. The games were played at New Holland.

Williamsport boys won a thriller from Darby-twp by a 17-15 score at Williamsport Friday evening while the Darby girls walloped the Decreeck lassies by a 22-3 count.

Pickaway-twp varsity was again returned the loser with the Alumni on the long end of a 31-20 score, Friday. The Pickaway girls defeated the Alumni, 13-8, and the reserves defeated the Alumni seconds, 30-28.

Scores have not yet been received on the Saltcreek at Scio and Washington at Muhlenberg games.

Leslie Cleaners To Invade Local Court Next Thursday Evening.

The Leslie Cleaners, of Greenfield, reputedly a strong aggregation, have been booked to appear on the Circleville Athletic club court next Thursday.

The Cleaners are perched far in front of an industrial league in Greenfield and come here with a perfect record for the season.

The team's stars include Mel Shaw, former O. S. U. star; Head, former Bliss college guard; Handley, star center of last year's Greenfield high team; Highland, reported to be the best man on the team, playing center; Fyle, Egan, Allen and Harris, all former Greenfield high school men.

The C. A. C. will be without the services of George Vierebome, who has returned to his school in Dalton, but a strong lineup will be presented.

The preliminary contest has not yet been scheduled.

RESERVES BEATEN

Fail To Overcome Lead of Merle Davis and His Co-horts; Score 24-21.

The story of the Reserve-Medical detachment cage game reads somewhat like the varsity contest against Marysville. The Reserves trailed, 18-9 at the half but rallying in the final two periods they could not overcome the Medics' lead. The final score was 24-21.

The game was played as a preliminary to the varsity contest.

Dick Smalley and Merle Davis were hot in the first half of the game scoring 16 of the points. The red and black Reserves starting hitting but couldn't stop the army boys.

Davis scored only two field goals but counted five free throws while Smalley for the Medics also scored nine points.

BIG 10 FIVES OPEN SEASONS SATURDAY EVE

Iowa Favored Team as Season Opens; Ohio State Tangles With Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Western conference basketball teams open the 1934 championship race tonight with all Big Ten teams going into action for the first round of title play.

On the basis of pre-season records the Iowa and Wisconsin teams are favored to capture the championship pennant now shared by Northwestern and Ohio State, the two quintets that ended in a tie last season with ten victories and two defeats apiece.

The Iowa team, coached by Rolfe Williams, went through the preseason campaign without a defeat, the only conference team to keep its slate clean. Dr. Walter Meanwell's Wisconsin five lost but one game, that to Marquette by a two point margin.

The schedule of conference games tonight:

Wisconsin at Illinois.
Minnesota at Purdue.
Northwestern at Iowa.
Michigan at Indiana.

Ohio State at Chicago.
The Wisconsin-Illinois contest gives promise of being the stand-out battle of the evening. Both teams displayed their strength in recent games. Illinois, like Wisconsin, lost only one pre-season conflict.

Mixing a love of adventure with a desire to aid science, Robert Buck and Robert Nixon, 19-year-old students of Westville, N. J., will start a two-months exploring trip from Mexico City next month in an endeavor to shed more light on the ancient Mayan civilization, traces of which are preserved in ruins throughout Honduras and Guatemala. They plan to visit the ruins photographed by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and a couple of years ago, after which they will seek hitherto undiscovered ruins in the jungles of Honduras and Guatemala. Whatever the young adventurers find during their exploration will go to the University of Pennsylvania.

Let the Public Know

The New York stock exchange has an opportunity to prove its sincerity in its professed willingness to effect, itself, needed reforms to escape threatened federal regulation.

The opportunity has come with the meeting of congress which is expected to pry into the affairs of the exchange with the object of securing greater protection to the investing public. It was provided by the case of the Atlas Tack company, a skyrocketing stock, which advanced during the year from 1 1/2 to 34 3/4. That the advance was due to manipulation is the belief of those who followed its gyrations. Following a sudden break that carried it down 20 points within a week, the stock exchange discontinued trading in the public, especially that part of it that suffered a loss in Atlas Tack, has a right to know what caused the collapse as well as the features in connection with the stock's history.

It can only be expected, says the Wall Street Journal, "that the exchange will promptly and exhaustively set forth the inside history of the Atlas Tack affair."

Is the exchange will do if it is sincerely interested in setting things in order and keeping it fair? A frank treatment of the Atlas Tack case might go far in convincing congress that federal regulation of the exchange was not needed.

The exchange should not only be thorough probe of the Atlas Tack affair and make the results public, but it should also make rules to make its future fair and practical. Such a move may have marked the Atlas Tack case.

What even if a little late, the Christmas weather is here.

Endbergh in New Role

The entire nation will be interested in reports that Colonel Lindbergh has taken a hand in the controversy between Orville Wright and the Smithsonian institution, with the hope of effecting a reconciliation that will permit the institution to come into possession of the first Wright airplane.

The dispute, it will be recalled, arose out of the Smithsonian's action in giving credit to Professor Langley for inventing the airplane. Marking the controversy was an actual flight of the Langley machine but long after the Wright brothers had proved their Kitty Hawk, N. C., machine a conquest of the air. Important changes in the Langley plane were made before the aircraft was taken from the institution and nosed into the air, it was charged by Mr. Wright.

Popular opinion has been on the side of the Wright brothers, who first proved by a demonstration that a heavier-than-air machine could fly. Other experimenters and inventors had fallen short of this goal.

Colonel Lindbergh seems the proper person to attempt a settlement of the dispute. He is the nation's, if not the world's premier aviator, to the development of which he has contributed much. If he succeeds in settling the Wright-Smithsonian controversy, he will have added to his laurels as a great flyer an important achievement as a diplomat.

What a world! If a politician finds jobs for relatives, that's wicked. If he finds jobs for friends that's gratitude.

There's one thing about the old car. It won't lose half of its value within the next week as a new one would.

"PREMIERE"

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

COPYRIGHT 1932 BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

At the premiere of her latest motion picture, Leni Luneska, beautiful star, is stunned by the appearance of her jailbird husband, whom she married in Vienna when only fourteen. He insists upon recognition as her husband and waits in a private office of the theatre for her to reconsider her refusal. Lucky Cavanaugh, handsome gambler, who fell in love with Leni on sight that evening, tries to make Kruger leave. Kruger empties his gun at Cavanaugh without effect, then rushes into the next office in a rage. He surprises burglars looting a safe and is shot dead. Cavanaugh slips out unnoticed but meets Detective Tom Mulrooney in the hall. Later as Leni and Cavanaugh are about to leave the theatre to avoid questioning, Mulrooney stops them. They deny knowing Kruger, but the theatre manager identifies Kruger as the man Cavanaugh brought to the office to await Leni. Lucky cautions Leni against talking but she tells all to Mulrooney. Cavanaugh also reveals what he knows, except the name of "Slug," one of the robbers whom he recognized. Cavanaugh suggests a bribe which Mulrooney refuses.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Cavanaugh's eyes were getting steely. He reached for the telephone on the desk.

"What are you going to do?" Mulrooney shot at him.

"I'm going to get hold of the best lawyer in town," Cavanaugh shot back.

"Don't do it the hard way," advised Mulrooney crisply. "You're not arrested yet. Maybe we can make a deal."

Cavanaugh looked him straight in the eye. "Shoot!"

A fresh cigar was between Mulrooney's fingers and he fiddled at the end of it with a match for a long time before he answered.

"I believe every word the lady told me," he said finally. "I'm not sure about you, Cavanaugh. You went crazy over this girl and it's even money you shot and killed Kruger. It's also even money that you were mixed up with those safe blowers. It's a known fact that you're pretty chummy with a lot of crooks—and you get your money without working for it. Fellows like you are capable of anything. You've got underworld connections that the police could never have. I'm going to make you a flat proposition. I'll give you four days to find out the man that popped that safe and killed Kruger. I don't give a darn how you do it. You've got the in on the underworld grapevine and you'll either deliver the goods—or I'll throw you in the tank so fast it will make your head swim."

Cavanaugh laughed in the man's face.

"I'm not a copper—how do you expect me to do alone what the whole police force in Los Angeles can't do?"

"I said you could take it or leave it. Do you want me to ring for the wagon and take you both down? You claim you're in love with this girl. I'm giving you a chance to protect her and protect yourself. If you play square with me I'll play square with you and keep my mouth shut."

Cavanaugh permitted the tension in his nerves to ease.

"I'll make you a proposition, Mulrooney," he said quietly. "Leave Miss Luneska out of this whole business. You can take me and swear to anything you like against me. I'll stand the gaff."

Mulrooney's lips twisted into a sneer. "Rub your wrong way to take sides against your boy friends, eh?"

"I don't know what you're talking about."

"You know what I'm talking about all right, Cavanaugh. You've come to the cross-roads. You can choose between your girl and the mob. You'll be welching on Miss Luneska if you stick to that bunk criminal code you fellows rave about. It's just up to you."

Cavanaugh and Leni emerged from the darkened theatre. In the breast of each a small dynamo throbbed.

Mulrooney was wasting his breath. Cavanaugh's mind was already made up. He had no illusions as to what could easily happen to him the first time he lifted his hand against the underworld.

"All right, Mulrooney—you win," he said quietly. "You've got me in a spot and you know it. I'll do my part and I'm expecting you to do yours about keeping Miss Luneska out of this mess. You've got a wife and four children. If you start any double-crossing on me you're going to have a widow and four orphans. You can think that over before you go to sleep tonight."

Mulrooney grunted and turned to Leni.

"It's been a real pleasure to meet you in person, Miss Luneska," he said. "You better take this fellow out and cool him off—he's talking a little bit wild."

But Cavanaugh's heart was already beginning to beat in a different rhythm. The past as well as the future was slipping out of his mind and there remained only the balance of this glowing night and Leni Luneska.

Cavanaugh and Leni emerged from the darkened theatre. In the breast of each a small dynamo throbbed, sending through their veins the warm current of ecstasy to come. By their agreement with Mulrooney they were safe for four days at least. And four days fully lived are more of life than all the centuries of history. Yesterday was dead and tomorrow a myth.

"Taxi, sir?"

A yellow cab wheeled up beside them. When Cavanaugh had helped Leni inside he realized that he did not know even where she lived. Nor she, for that matter, had the faintest idea of his abode. Leni gave the driver an address in Beverly Hills.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

President Looks for Short Congress Session Then Caribbean Trip

WASHINGTON—Curbing political rhetoric and partisan animosities is not the only reason the President wants a snappy session of Congress. He plans some long range traveling this summer, and would like to have Congress wind up its affairs by Spring so he can get under way by the time he returns home.

On his tentative itinerary are Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and the Panama Canal. The "National Birthday Ball" to be given throughout the nation on January 30, in honor of Roosevelt's birthday, has an incongruous assortment on its committee. Will Hays, one-time Republican National Chairman, now "Czar" of the moving picture industry, is a member, while Henry L. Doherty, multi-millionaire utility magnate, and bitter foe of the President's Tennessee Valley Authority, is national chairman.

Entire proceeds from the ball will be given to the Warm Springs, Ga. Foundation for its crusade against infantile paralysis.

From the sale of the 200,000 cases of high-grade liquor, seized by the government before prohibition repeal, government experts anticipate an average return of $18 a case, which would bring the Treasury $3,600,000. A large portion of the stock consists of imported liquors seized from rum-runners.

The convening of Congress last Wednesday was the first time since 1820 that a regular session began on a date other than the first Monday in December.

Under the "Lame Duck" Constitutional amendment, all regular sessions of Congress will meet on January 3. Minnesota's ex-convict Farmer-Laborite Representative Francis Shoemaker is one politician who doesn't believe in keeping his ambitions a secret.

Upon reaching the Capital, Shoemaker made known his intention of running for the Senate against his fellow Farmer-Laborite Senator Henrik Shipstead. Last Spring Shoemaker tried to get Shipstead appointed Minister to Denmark.

Dollars and Eagles

T. C. Donovan, Shipping Board official who waived Government insurance claims on the SS President Wilson, has been fired.

The Government still had a lien on the vessel due to an unpaid mortgage against the Dollar Line, and the insurance was to protect the mortgage.

Donovan turned the government's insurance over to the Dollars and Eagles there after was dropped by New Deal Commissioners Woodward and Saltzman.

Morris Shepard, gentle Senator from Texas, has the right to fly the Blue Eagle, but can't do so. He has cut the work hours of his office staff in compliance with the President's Recovery Program, but there are two places where the Blue Eagle cannot be flaunted: The House and Senate Office Buildings.

The rules prohibit the display of posters. So Morris is trying to get the rules changed.

Harry Lane Engelbright, Republican House whip from northern California, is a young man unknown to the general public, but certain to be heard from in the future.

Asstute and popular, Engelbright should be party chief if he remains in the House a few years more.

Arkansas will soon lose one of its Democratic Congressmen. Representative W. P. Driver has been elected to the Senate.

Robert L. Taylor, Jr., Marine when the latter is transferred to the Circuit bench in St. Louis.

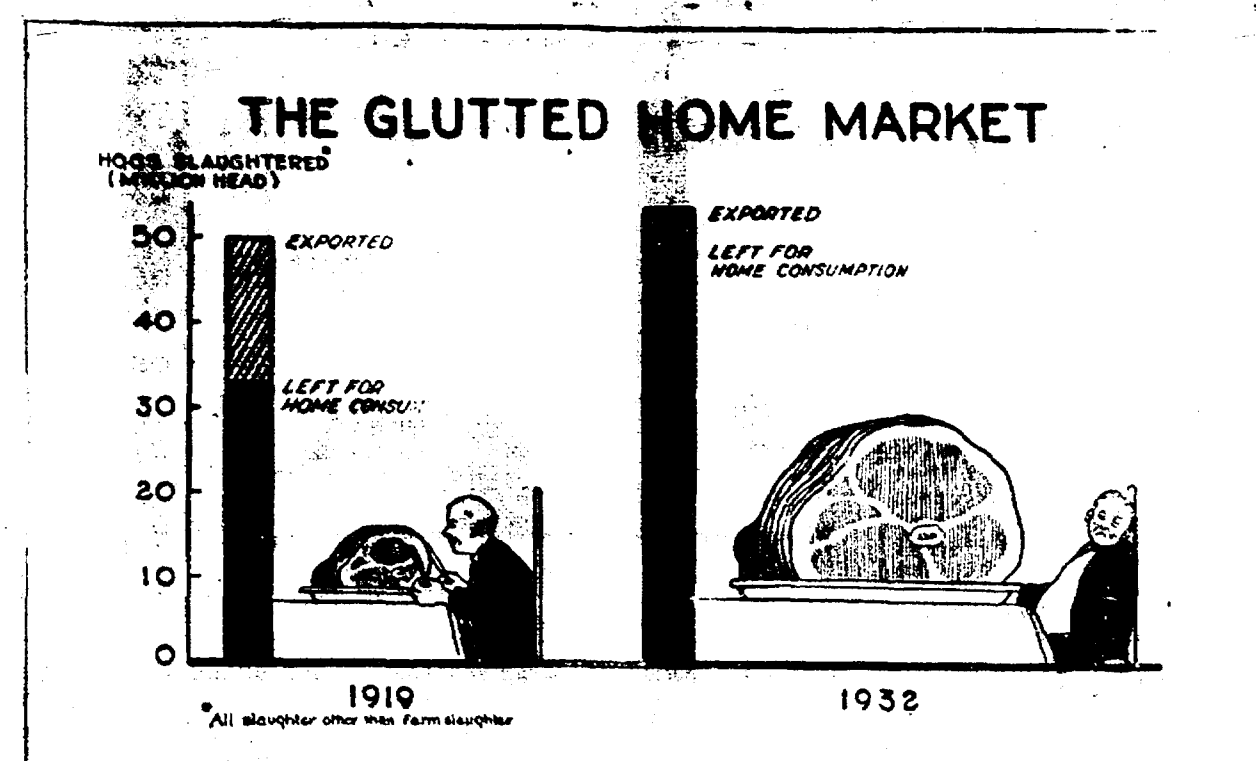

Ford Agent

General Johnson got rid of his Lincoln Limousine as a part of his fight with Henry Ford, but he has just hired one of Ford's former executives.

C. W. Dunning, once in charge of Ford exports in Southeast Europe, now has been placed in charge of the codes taken from the AAA by Johnson.

Tradition has reached out and seized Postmaster General Big Jim Farley.

HOG production in the United States has increased at about the same rate as our population, but the quantity of hog products available for home consumption has increased materially because of a severe decline in our exports since the World War. The American people recently have been eating around 14 percent more pork and lard than they did in the pre-war period, and they are now eating a higher percent of the total production of hogs than 20 years ago. However, this excess of hog products in the home market has depressed hog prices. The recent increased consumption is a reflection of the comparatively low prices at which the pork had to move, rather than of any substantial pick-up in consumer requirements or preference for hog products. A more moderate hog production would eliminate the excess on the home market and would result in a higher price per hundredweight and a larger total return from the whole hog crop. This the corn-hog plan of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration seeks to bring about by adjusting production to present-day needs.

Will Rogers A Story This Spot

By WILL ROGERS
 FOLKS is always tellin' how necked the people of Boston are. It has got to be a joke the way the Bostonians joke about their ancestors. Some no one amounts to much in town unless his great-grandfather fought in the Revolution or spilled tea into the harbor. Any how this has to do with a lady that got all fed up hearing about ancestry in Boston.

This lady came from way out in Michigan and was visiting some relatives in the Hub city. They all were calling on some folks who were related to the Cabots or the Cod-fishes or something.

The hostess in the course of her bragging said with pride, "Why my ancestors came over in the Mayflower."

This riled the lady from Michigan, and she came back right snappily, "It's a lucky thing they did. The immigration laws are so much stricter now."

Robert and Ruth Rittenour returned to Delaware on Tuesday after the holidays vacation to resume their studies at Ohio Wesleyan college.

and Mrs. John Davis and sons, Raymond and Dwight, entertained on Sunday at twelve o'clock dinner the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Davis, a family of Chillicothe, and Mr. James Jodwin.

Among those attending the Kiwanis Club breakfast dance at Circleville on New Years night were Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Farnham, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Lightner, Mr. Margaret Wright, James Matthews, Miss Margaret Cryan, Maxwell Tussing, Lewis Holman and Miss Marie Reichelderfer.

Felt "Curse" of Ancient Egyptian Pharaoh

CARNARVON at ENTRANCE to TUTANKHAMEN'S TOMB.

HOWARD CARTER

LORD CARNARVON

The mysterious death of Dr. Arthur E. P. B. Weigall, noted author and Egyptologist, in London, recalls the series of misfortunes that overtook many who were connected with the Howard Carter Expedition which opened the tomb of King Tutankhamen, at Luxor, Egypt, more than a decade ago. Superstitious Britons say the savant's death is proof that the curse, placed by the ancient Pharaoh on deliers of his tomb, is still working. While excavation work on the tomb was still in progress, Lord Carnarvon, financial backer of the expedition, died mysteriously. Soon after Carter was stricken, but recovered. Then, The Hon. Reginald Wendell, Carnarvon's brother-in-law, died at the age of 29, and Lady Carnarvon was afflicted with a mysterious malady, but recovered. Colonel Audrey Herbert, Carnarvon's half brother died and many others whose connection with the nobleman was remote also suffered through the strange spell.

Questions and Answers

What is the key to food combinations that makes them tempting?

Variety in flavors, colors and texture makes for the temptation that every person who plans meals would like to achieve. If the same kind of food is served in the same meal, the flavor lacks the interest that it gains if spread over an interval in which that food does not appear.

Colors lend eye-appeal to the food. Unappetizing foods are those that have little or no color at all. A very good guide for planning meals is the color guide, because it is the yellow, green and red vegetables and fruits that richly supply so-called "protective" foods.

A satisfactory balance between foods that are hard, soft, crisp, fibrous, glandular and creamy makes for greater menu success. A crisp salad or a raw vegetable relish supplies a pleasing contrast in texture when served with a creamy dish. Foods that are "all round" are not only difficult to eat gracefully, but lack any stimulus to appetite.

What is a different way to use left-over cake?

Toasted cake is a delicious accompaniment to any dessert serving, but an excellent way to use dry cake with ice cream is in a recipe called Butterscotch Nut Sandwich. Take 4 slices of dry cake, 4 scoops of ice cream, 1/3 C. chopped nuts and some butter, scotch sauce. Place ice cream on a slice of cake, add butterscotch sauce and nuts. A chocolate sauce also is delicious with the cake.

I have heard about making griddle cakes with bread crumbs. Do you have a recipe for them?

Use 1 1/2 C. bread crumbs, 1/2 C. scalded milk, 3 Tbsp. butter or other fat (melted), 2 eggs, 1/2 C. flour, 1/2 tsp. salt and 2 tsp. baking powder. Soak the crumbs in the milk and melted fat until soft. Add well beaten eggs and dry ingredients, mixed and sifted together. Bake on a hot greased griddle.

Meaning of Kitchen Terms
Parboil—To boil until partly done, 1/2 to 3/4 the time for cooking.

A la mode—means "in the usual fashion" instead of the commonly thought "with ice cream."

Blanch—means to whiten, to scald. The blanching process usually depends on a quick-change in temperature, from boiling to chilling.

Plum Rolls
1 1/2 C. sifted flour 2 Tbsp. butter
1/2 tsp. salt 1 can or 2 C.
1/2 C. milk plums, seeded
2 tsp. baking powd. and drained

Sift flour, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Add milk slowly until soft dough is formed. Roll 1/4 inch thick on a slightly floured board. Cover with plums. Roll in a long roll, pressing edges together. Cut in 1 1/2 inch slices. Place in a greased pan and pour plum sauce over them. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 30 minutes, basting often.

Serve hot, with a sauce poured around, and tablespoon of whipped cream on each slice. Six servings are made from this quantity. The plum sauce is made by combining 1 C. sugar, 1 Tbsp. flour, 1 C. plum syrup and 1 C. water. Cook together until raw starch taste has disappeared, and add 1 Tbsp. butter.

The Instantaneous Diagnosis

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE traveling man had occasion to pass through the colored compartment of the train on his way to the baggage car, where he wished to open one of his trunks. He took note of a large coal black person who slept audibly, with his lolled back against the seat, his mouth agape and his tongue hanging down on his chest.

When he returned from the baggage car he held in his hand a five grain quinine capsule, with its top removed.

Presently a fly lit on the nose of the slumbering one, and he sucked his tongue back inside of his mouth. Instantly he was wide awake. He spat violently, then arose with a look of deep concern on his face and headed for the back platform.

At the door, he encountered the traveling man. "Mister," he demanded anxiously, does you know of dey's a doctor on dis yere train?"

"Who needs a doctor?" countered the white man.

"I does, that's who."

"Are you sick?"

"I shore is. And whut's more I knows whut ails me, and I knows I needs to git to a doctor right away. Boss, my gall's busted!"
